CHG Promotes Three to Facilitate Growth

Mark Law, David Baldrige, and Stephanie Rollheiser promoted to new leadership roles

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (July 24, 2008) – CHG Healthcare Services, one of the oldest and largest healthcare staffing firms in the United States, has announced the promotion of three individuals to new leadership positions.

- CHG has named Mark Law to Group President, Physician Staffing. Law will oversee all aspects of temporary physician staffing (also known as locum tenens) staffing and direct a group of more than 460 employees, including directors, managers, sales professionals and support staff across two CHG companies, CompHealth and Weatherby Locums. Law has worked for CHG for nearly 20 years, serving most recently as president of the CompHealth locum tenens division.
- CHG has named David Baldrige to division president in its CompHealth locum tenens division. He will oversee all aspects of operations for the largest operating division in the company, which is responsible for placing physicians in more than 40 medical specialties in temporary positions in all 50 states. Baldrige has been with CHG since 1990 and previously served as vice president in CompHealth's locum tenens division.
- CHG has named Stephanie Rollheiser to Vice President, CompHealth locum tenens. Rollheiser is part of the management team that oversees strategic planning and operations for the Salt Lake City-based locum tenens division. She was previously the director of operations for the division. Rollheiser brings with her more than 15 years of experience in the professional healthcare staffing and recruiting industry.

"We're excited about the growth opportunity created by the promotion of these talented leaders within our company," said Scott Beck, Group President at CHG.
