CompHealth Earns The Joint Commission Certification

Rehab and respiratory therapy division earns national compliance honor

SALT LAKE CITY (December 31, 2008) — CompHealth [<http://www.comphealth.com>], a CHG Healthcare Services [<http://www.chghealthcare.com>] company and one of the leading providers of temporary and permanent healthcare staffing services in the United States, announced today its rehab and respiratory therapy staffing division in Grand Rapids, Mich., has achieved The Gold Seal of Approval™ for Health Care Staffing Services by The Joint Commission [<http://www.jointcommission.org>].

Joint Commission certification is recognized nationwide as a symbol of quality reflecting a healthcare organization's commitment to meeting certain performance standards. Earning certification required CompHealth to undergo a rigorous audit evaluating internal processes and business practices with staffing clients and travel healthcare professionals, including the credentialing files of many long-term active travelers, to ensure they comply with The Joint Commission's national standards. Key areas of focus included leadership, human resources management, performance measurement and improvement, and information management.

"We are thrilled to receive this esteemed recognition," division president Sandra Raehl said. "Our CompHealth rehab and respiratory therapy teams are committed to providing exceptional service, and this certification exemplifies their hard work to commitment and quality."

CompHealth's rehab and respiratory therapy teams in Grand Rapids specialize in staffing physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech language pathologists, physical therapist assistants, certified occupational therapist assistants, respiratory therapists and sleep techs, or polysomnographers.

These professionals serve across a broad base of clients, ranging from large public hospitals to small private clinics.

The Joint Commission, established in 2004, is an independent, not-for-profit organization and the nation's predominant standards-setting and accrediting body in healthcare. The Joint Commission's Health Care Staffing Services Certification Program certifies healthcare staffing firms that meet or exceed standards and performance measurement requirements for the industry.
