

Weatherby Locums Redesigns Web Site to Make Locum Tenens Job Search Easier

New design connects locum tenens candidates directly to a Weatherby Locums consultant

Fort Lauderdale, FL (April 11, 2009) -- Attracting potential candidates to locum tenens physician positions just got easier with the launch of the fully-upgraded Weatherby Locums Web site, www.weatherbylocums.com. Weatherby Locums, a locum tenens consulting firm based in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, specializes in matching the right physician with the temporary needs of hospitals and healthcare facilities nationwide.

"Using cutting-edge technology to address physicians' unique job search needs, our redesigned site makes it even easier for locum tenens physicians to make contact with our consultants during their job search," said Pat Kennedy, Weatherby Locums president.

The new technologies implemented on the redesigned site include the Chat Now and Request a Call features, which provide locum tenens physician candidates the ability to contact a Weatherby Locums consultant at their convenience. In addition, the new job cart capability enables a physician to select multiple jobs, preview them, and then inquire about them with one form, making the search process easier and less time consuming. Once the job cart is full and the physicians are ready to check out, they have the opportunity to select the best time to be contacted and upload their Curriculum Vitae (CV).

"In the past, physicians were spending too much time trying to manage their job search. The new design makes the process faster and simpler, allowing them to quickly find jobs and then easily contact us to find out what other opportunities we may have for them." says Erik Turner, training and marketing manager at Weatherby Locums.
